

Wellness Solutions

Give Your Customers Independence and Peace of Mind

With the growing number of older adults living on their own, there is an increased need for non-intrusive systems that help connect families and assist in emergencies.

Wellness from Alarm.com monitors daily activity with small sensors in the home that communicate with your customer's Alarm.com security system. Using activity data, Alarm.com creates behavior profiles to help spotlight trends that are out of the ordinary and may lead to emergent issues.

With Wellness integrated into their Alarm.com powered security system, your customers will receive real-time notifications when their loved one is:

- Inactive during normally active hours
- Out of bed for a prolonged time at night
- Opening a door outside of normal hours

Alarm.com Wellness provides:

- A complete 24/7 safety net
- Maintained privacy and independence
- Real-time notifications to ease worries
- Always on monitoring

Bed sensors make it easy to see if Mom got out of bed this morning
